Things we believe in:

FAMILY

Family is where life begins. You don't actually pick your parents. They are, so to speak, where you land in life. You take their last name.

So many times, your mother's name is lost. But she is every bit a part of you. Your parents had parents. Your grandparents. They are your heritage. It's where family pride comes from. It's their backgrounds, religions, beliefs, DNA, and genetic predispositions that make you who you are today.

When you marry into a union, a partnership, you each bring qualities to it. He has done the "he" thing, and she has done the "she" thing, and together, we commit to the "We" thing. Your children are ambassadors for the family name. A family is built upon the foundation of pride, values, integrity and character.

"Willing to Thrive in 2025!"

America was founded on the principle of "We the people, in order to form a more perfect Union..." Not under the premise "We the government, in order to form more perfect people..."

- What is your family name?
- What was your maiden name?
- Did you know any of your grandparents?
- Which ones?
- What was their last name?
- Where were they born and when?
- What do you know about their life?
- What are your family traditions?

When you realize how many circumstances must come together to make you, there is a great respect for life, and a humility that encourages respect for mankind. It's easy to believe in God when you experience the miracle of pregnancy and childbirth. It is a life-changing experience and earns you the title of "Mom" and "Dad."
